THRIVING, NOT JUST SURVIVING Another Pandemic Summer

Date and Time: Thursday, July 15 6:30 pm - 8:00 pm

PDF information flyer attached on right.

In this workshop, Jennifer will help parents understand that language and empathy is medicine - medicine that can reduce stress hormones and help to build emotional resilience. If we have learned anything during these crazy times, it's that kids need emotional shock absorbers to be flexible and to thrive. The world opening up again can mean an increase in anxiety and overwhelm for some children (adults too). Learn how to use the magic of the Connected Parenting method to make this a stress free, wonderful summer for the whole family.
